

The Other Wes Moore* by Wes Moore

"I am curious about how two men with the same name from the same neighborhood ended up on two different paths." — Ms. Boyd

The Paris Wife* by Paula McLain

"I am curious about Ernest Hemingway's love life." — Ms. Boyle

Revolutionary Characters* by Gordon S. Wood

"I am curious about what made the founding fathers great." — Mr. Willey

The Sharper Your Knife, The Less You Cry* by Kathleen Flinn

"I am curious about how Kathleen changed her career path, learned French, and managed her curriculum while attending the Cordon Bleu in Paris." — Ms. Paquette

Skylights and Screen Doors* by Dean Smart

"I am curious about how the media sensationalizes a local murder vs. how the family who lived through it experiences the murder of a loved one." — Ms. Day

Unbroken* by Laura Hillenbrand

"I am curious about how an author with Chronic Fatigue Syndrome could write such a detailed account of an unbelievable and true story of survival." — Mr. Ferenc

Water For Elephants* by Sara Gruen

"I am curious about almost any book that gets made into a movie." — Ms. McGlone

We Die Alone* by David Howarth

"I am curious about the will to survive & the limits of human endurance." — Mr. LeBlanc

Wordless Books* by David Beronä

"I am curious about how someone tells a story using only images." — Ms. Sanborn

As you read your book, find a couple of quotes that you are curious about.

Quote From Text	This quote made me curious about...

Contact information:

Literacy Committee / PRHS
86 Old Ward Bridge Rd.
Plymouth, NH 03264

<http://prhslibrary.com>
Twitter | twitter.com/PRHSLibrary
Tel. 603-536-1444 x2017

Photo used with permission by Jon Bertelli

PRHS students are invited to read any book this summer, as long as it is a topic you are curious about.

PRHS Library Summer Hours:
Mon—Fri 10-12

For more information and to join the online discussion go to our website:
prhslibrary.com

Here are some titles that your teachers are curious about. These are the types of books you may consider reading; however, your book does not have to be on this list. It doesn't matter what you read as long as you are curious about it.

11/22/63* by Stephen King

"I am curious about what Stephen King thinks happened to JFK on the grassy knoll that day." — Mr. Fogarty

Art & Fear: Observations on the Fears (& Rewards) of Artmaking* by David Bayles

"I am curious if I will have similar fears in creating or thinking about art."
— Ms. Donovan

Balzac and the Little Chinese Seamstress* by Dai Sijie

"I am curious about how the writings of Balzac transformed the lives of two young boys living in exile." — Mrs. Kochien

Beastly* by Alex Finn

"I am curious how the author can make a tale of Beauty and the Beast more relevant to our time period." — Mrs. Morrison

Born on a Blue Day* by Daniel Tammet

"I am curious about how an autistic savant describes the inside of his mind."
— Ms. Niles

City of the Beasts* by Isabel Allende

"I am curious about anything Allende writes but I especially want to read La Ciudad de las Bestias (the Spanish title) because all of the teens in Spain are reading it." — Ms. Rella

A Discovery of Witches* by Deborah Harkness

"I am curious about a book when People magazine gives it a good review."
— Ms. Miller

Game of Thrones* by George R.R. Martin

"I am curious about a book that is a cross between Lord of the Rings and Peyton Place (think Jersey Shore but located in NH in the 1950's)." — Mrs. O'Brien

Girl, Stolen* by April Henry

"I am curious about how a blind kidnapping victim survives the ordeal."
— Ms. Harland

The Glass Castle* by Jeannette Walls

"I am curious about teenagers' resiliency, their ability to survive their childhoods."
— Ms. Rich

The Greatest Generation* by Tom Brokaw

"I am curious about the bravery of men and women who fought for our freedom during World War II." — Mr. Lamb

The Help* by Kathryn Stockett

"I am curious about a world I will never know— a time before the civil rights movement when your life was often defined by the color of your skin."
— Ms. Fleck

The House of Tomorrow* by Peter Bognanni

"I am curious to read this because it sounds a lot like one of my favorite books: King Dork." — Mr. Brough

How to Read a Church: A Guide to Symbols and Images in Churches and Cathedrals* by Richard Taylor

"I am curious to know what the art and architecture of these places is meant to communicate." — Mr. Smith

The Hunger Games* by Suzanne Collins

"I am curious about how a teenager survives a televised fight to the death."
— Ms. Simmons

Island Light* by Katherine Towler

"I am curious to see how the author finishes the story in her third book."
— Mrs. Donahue

Life As We Knew It* by Susan Pfeffer

"I am curious about what everyday life would be like for a teenager who survived a catastrophic event."
— Ms. Simensen

Life of Pi* by Yann Martel

"I am curious about how a boy can survive on a raft with a tiger."
— Mr. Gunn

The Little Prince* by Antoine de Saint-Exupéry

"I am curious about Le Petit Prince (the French title), the story of a boy who never leaves the answer to a question unanswered. Plus it's my favorite story of all-time." — Mr. Harris

Manhunt: The Twelve Day Chase for Lincoln's Killer* by James Swanson

"I am curious about the hours that John Wilkes Booth spent following the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln." — Mr. Parsons

The Maze Runner* by James Dashner

"I am curious about how these teenagers escape from a mysterious maze."
— Mr. Amtmann